“ Danny, my big little brother! We had so many plans we were talking about for retirement and enjoying company of each other for years to come. It's hard even now to say this without losing my voice and crying. My oldest friend! And I mean longest oldest despite the fact that we tried to burn my house down with fireworks on one occasion, lol those that know that story know what I mean. Through good times and bad we've been for each other that piece of foundation to stand on when everything else seemed to fall apart. And now I'm left here without my friend but I know he's in a good place! The hours of endless laughter that we've had together and of course those of you not such a good time. We are always there for each other and neither of us ever had a cross word for each other! You have been and will always be one of the brightest parts that I've had in my life.

I miss you already, the random checking in text to see how I'm doing! I wish you had been able to go to Africa with me last year when we planned! But now I understand why you backed out. Rest well my brother.

“ Danny, you're going to be missed, especially your sense of humor. I always knew I was gonna laugh when you were around. Some of us got a chance to share in your antics, while some only heard of them after the fact. Little brother go rest high you earned it.
