“ Jerry loved the service dogs we raised at our school. As he was cleaning our hall or bringing in the trash cart I would invite him to pet whichever pup was with me. The last time I saw Jerry, the night before I left for Florida for my father's memorial service and final rest, I invited him to pet Tepache and say goodbye since Tepache would be entering advanced training that weekend. Jerry and I swapped stories about our fathers over the past couple of years. These were while he was sweeping my room or taking out the trash since he had a lot of work to do and little time to do it. I will miss Jerry and will always remember his kindness toward my dogs and concerning my situation with my elderly parents. Rest in peace, Jerry.
