Deloris was a dedicated and hardworking woman. She worked until the remarkable age of 76 and retired from Walmart in 2016 after 35 years of service. This is a testament to her strong spirit and commitment and love for people.

Survivors include her daughter, Cindy Coker (Bo), her granddaughter, Vanessa Kennamer (Mont) and a host of nieces, nephews, and extended family members whom she loved dearly. She also leaves behind her special girls – Regina Gregory, Theresa Smith and Susan Martin. They held a significant place in her heart and were a constant in her life and care during her battle with Alzheimer's.

Deloris is preceded in death by her beloved husband of 45 years, Buddy Saint; her son, Greg Saint; sister, Ann Lemley; brothers, Tommy Cobb and Dwight Cobb; special friend O.P. Johnson.

The family has chosen a private ceremony.

There are not enough words to describe what Delores meant to me. We worked side by side at Walmart for so very many years. We loved as sisters not co-workers. She was a great Lady and friend. I will always treasure our friendship.
