Becky was a multi-talented individual and had a wide variety of interest. She was passionate about the arts and created many unique and beautiful pieces. Christmas was her favorite time of the year and she used the holiday as an excuse to create, design, decorate and paint. Her display of her snow village was unbelievable. Becky had a wonderful and caring personality, a great sense of humor and a sincere love for people, especially children. She worked in the extended day program in the school for several years and tried her best to ease the burden of every child in her care. She loved the outdoors, always had a vegetable garden and usually canned her excess vegetables. Becky was intrigued by Indian history and attended many powwow gatherings. Becky was a humble, soft-spoken and unpretentious individual. She will be missed.

Family members left behind to cherish their beautiful memories of Becky include her mother, Laverne Brown; sister, Teresa Smith (Tom); and brother,
