“ I am so sorry I'm just finding out about this and that I had not seen him like I really wish I had but I remember him mainly, though this is not the way I wish, from him being in the fire dept. with my husband, but especially for me, it seems like it was some get-togethers we had, though doesn't seem like had many but those are what it seems like I remember when we were able to actually have some long conversations and get to more really know him, just know what it seems like remember most about him was his love for his old vintage cars, seeing him ride around in them - maybe even getting a ride in one once - and maybe not quite remembering this right but seems he was telling that he had one that was a James Bond car once - an Ashton Martin? not too good on this but hopefully got it right, just know he was all excited in telling it and if nothing else, was just fascinated by that and his extensive knowledge, even if I hardly had an idea what he was talking about - and also the fact that he was an early computer user, as I understand quite involved in that world back during a time - of course, being somewhat younger, was still just a kid but still - that I probably had never even heard of one - he just seemed like he'd had a fascinating life and would really have loved to have gotten to know him better, especially being such close neighbors and really regret that it seemed like I let life take me in a different direction - would have loved for my sons to have gotten to know him better - regrets - but if this helps you, his family, to at least know we - I at least - did have that feel toward and thought a lot of him - I hope you know how sorry to have lost him and how much did think of him -
